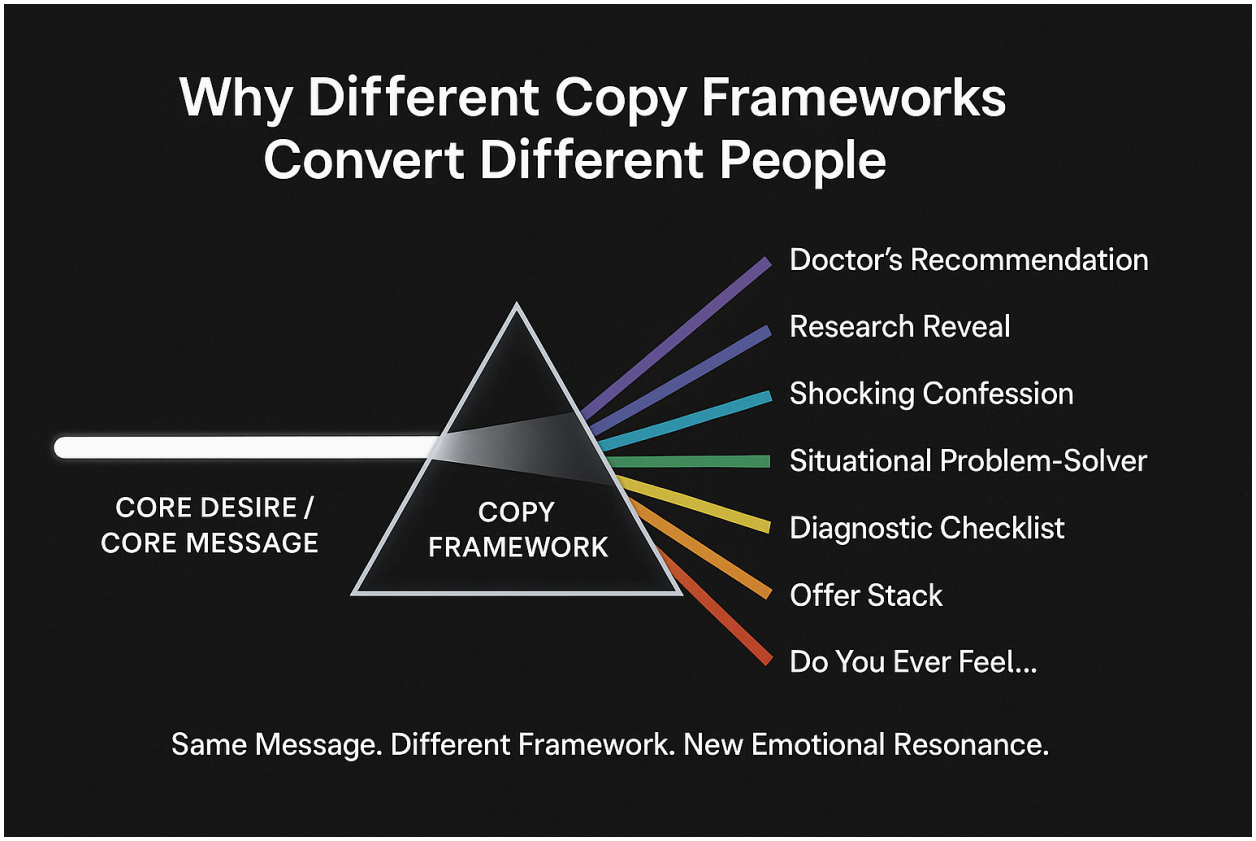
EXPLAINING PROMPT #6

The following sub-tabs contain a series of proven copy frameworks you can use to test different variations of your messaging in your ads.



These prompts will:

1) Give you more options to test different "variations" of copy in any stage of testing (desires, angles, etc.,)

To emphasize, you can use the following frameworks at any stage of testing.

Before you move on from ANY desire/angle, it's worth testing the copy with some different frameworks.

Most people hear "test new copy" and have no clue what that actually means. Beginners especially get stuck because they know they need new variations, but they do not know what to change or how to rewrite the same message in different ways.

These frameworks fix that problem by giving you actual templates you can plug your product into. Same desire. Same message. Just delivered differently.